

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to system for calibration of gas sensors and more particularly, the present invention relates to a system for characterization and calibration of bosch
5 zirconium oxide based modified lambda sensors used in oil fired boiler stack gas oxygen measurement.